Support for organisations

Preparing for your organisation's involvement in end-point assessment

Packages of support to help you prepare to deliver end-point assessment

July and September 2017

This package will take you through the issues, models and opportunities for your organisation – helping you understand what it takes to deliver effective end-point assessment and prepare for your organisation's involvement. The package includes a 1-day workshop, a 1-to-1 action-planning follow-up call with a programme facilitator and 10 online seminars on specific topics.

Gearing up to deliver end-point assessment

Packages to help you gear up to deliver the significant wave of assessments expected in 2018

October to November 2017

For those whose organisations are on the Register of Apprenticeship Assessment Organisations and who are starting or expanding delivery of end-point assessment, this package will focus on areas such as creating/testing assessment instruments, developing accurate costing models, defining the apprentice/employer journey, finding your place in the market and working with on-programme providers. The package includes a 1-day workshop, a follow-up practice-sharing/action-planning session with a programme facilitator, and access to supporting resources.

Support for assessors

Kick-start your preparations and CPD as an end-point assessor

11 October 2017 (Manchester) / 13 December 2017 (Birmingham) / 30 January 2018 (London)

Based on in-depth research with assessors and experts in eight industries, these three large-scale events will help you understand what makes a good end-point assessor. The events will feature key note speakers, plenary and workshops sessions to develop your skills and build your knowledge of end-point assessment methods and practices. At the event, you will meet AAOs and understand their requirements. Before the event you'll have access to an online self-assessment to identify your CPD needs and help you choose workshop sessions to attend.
